

Privileges Online Application Management System March 2012 Update

The Privileges Project is moving forward as a mash-up of Inscriptio and Copyright tools developed by Berkman as a part of previous Library Lab projects. As a result, we are moving very quickly and should begin testing by next week. We are at the beginning stages of exploring integration with other systems on campus; the tool will function as a stand-alone component until integration is complete.